

Marie Simonsson, M.Sc.

Marie Simonsson was a Manager and CEO for 20 years before deciding to study Management and Organizational Leadership at Springfield College, Mass where she received a Master of Science. After this she stayed on as a part time adjunct professor for two years. During the past 15 years she has combined management consulting with several board positions in different companies. She has recently translated the first Bowen Theory literature to Swedish, and trains and consults with Bowen theory after having participated in the Post Graduate Training Program of the Bowen Center in Washington.